We hereby inform that on 7th August 2014, the BOSMAL Automotive Research and Development Institute Ltd received the questions according to an open-tender procedure for the supply of a brand new inertia brake dynamometer for vehicles' hydraulic drum and disc brakes testing h. Details as below:

QUESTIONS:

The tender comprises several documents which need to be delivered, i.e.

- Tender Appendixes 1-6
- Our offer (Quotation)
- Documents from the authorities (like i.e. health insurance confirmation, tax office confirmation, etc)
- Technical Specification of the test bench

As we are not a Polish company, we would like to confirm which of the above need to be translated into Polish?

Further which of these translations need to be authenticated?

There is a list of project references which you inquire (§5 3. g). Do you expect any concrete form for this list? Otherwise we would create a list including customer name, location, date of supply and a signature by our General Manager.

ANSWERS:

- all documents included in your offer ought to be translated into Polish language with the exception of technical specification;
- documents from the authorities should be with translations authenticated;
- the form of a list of supplies is at free form. You can decide how you want depict this data, however mentioned in a list of supplies of the same nature and volume should have confirmation for at least 3 deliveries from customer – references – according to the requirements of SECP in §5 p. 3.1 g).
